The S&P eased lower yesterday. The market closed below the key 1100.00 handle. The market has seen further downside today, and is currently trading just above the 1081.25-1084.50 level. A break of this should get bears interested and may mean that further short-term weakness is on the way. A break of this level should see 1070.00 tested. Bulls will need the market back above the 1103.00-1104.50 level if they are to reassert themselves. The market should remain vulnerable to an immediate term capitulation if it remains below the 1094.00-96.00 area.
