The FTSE rallied firmly on Friday on the back of stronger than expected NFP numbers on Friday. The market saw subdued trade yesterday in observance of the US holiday. The market is now trading above the 5404.0-14.5 level, and targets the 5500.0-5530.0 resistance area in the immediate term. If bulls can retake this area, a challenge for YTD highs will be on. If bears are to avoid another rout, they must look to retake the 5400.0 handle today. The market now has an immediate term bullish skew above here and thus it is likely to drift higher as long as 5404.0-14.5 holds.
