The FTSE saw choppy trade yesterday. The market sold off sharply during the afternoon, hitting lows at 5784.0 before retracing the most of the move lower heading into the evening. The bounce from the strong support zone- lows were just ahead of the 5770.0-76.0 level- confirms that buyers continue to be present on dips. Although if the market cannot continue higher and take out the 5888.0-92.5 level very soon, we may see an eventual break lower. This is especially true as risk markets are now grappling with an imminent threat of Ireland requesting a bailout from the Eurozone.
