The EuroStoxx closed lower on Friday. The market saw choppy trade during much of the day, especially following the US NFP report. However a failure to rally following the release (despite the market's best effort to force a 'sell usd, buy risk assets' response) helped the EuroStoxx down to the 2780-91 support zone. The market bounced going into the close, however, the inability to break through the 2864-69 area on successive occasions has made the market vulnerable to a deep sell-off. A break of the 2780 level targets the 2700 handle.
